A very festive Christmas at Saltwater Coast

Residents at Saltwater Coast, celebrated their first Christmas Party earlier this month with 300 of their new neighbours in the growing, family-friendly development.

The masterplanned coastal development has been designed with the vision of creating a close-knit community and the annual Christmas Party is one of many popular events that FKP has held to foster a social atmosphere.

It was a day enjoyed by all residents who attended. It was especially memorable for children keen to meet Santa Claus. Many took up the opportunity to write a letter to Santa, with some amusing items finding their way onto their wish lists. While some enjoyed the company of Santa, others preferred to have their face painted.

Executive General Manager, Residential Communities, Evian Delfabbro attributed the success of the event to Saltwater Coasts community spirit.

“It is our pleasure to organise social events such as the Christmas party and we are thrilled with the enthusiasm families have shown in their attendance. We are focused on providing the community with the opportunity to form friendships, which are often life-long and we recognise the advantages of neighbourhood living and how it enriches people’s lives,” said Ms Delfabbro.

The Saltwater Coast Christmas Party offered activities to suit all, with a jumping castle, totem tennis, basketball hoops, balloonist, playground, decoration station, croquet and pony rides all on offer.

A traditionally Australian sausage sizzle was supplied by Saltwater Coast, with all proceeds being donated to the Point Cook CFA.

Saltwater Coast’s friendly atmosphere, open space design, extensive recreational facilities, and proximity to parklands and nature provide an ideal environment for family life. Saltwater Coast residents are able to enjoy the beaches located opposite Point Cook Coastal Park, known for its soft sands and stunning bay views.
