New community recreational hub opens at Saltwater Coast

Cr Kim McAliney, Mayor of Wyndham City, will formally open Saltwater Coast's recreational hub, the Lifestyle Centre, on Thursday February 16.

The new Lifestyle Centre is positioned at the heart of Saltwater Coast allowing residents to keep fit and active all year round with a broad range of sporting and recreation facilities.

Equipped with a gym, outdoor resort pool, indoor heated 25-meter lap pool, children's pool and two tennis courts, residents now have the opportunity to stay active and socialise with the Saltwater Coast community.

Mayor of Wyndham, Cr Kim McAliney is excited to open Wyndham's newest sports and recreation hub.

"I am very pleased to officially open the Lifestyle Centre, it's going to be wonderful for the 2,500 families living in Saltwater Coast."

Social facilities at the Lifestyle Centre include a communal barbeque area, a café (due to open 22 February 2012) and a 100-seat function room with envied city skyline views.

Evian Delfabbro, FKP Executive General Manager of Developments in NSW and Victoria, explained that the Lifestyle Centre would be the social, sporting and recreational focal point for Saltwater Coast residents of all ages.

"Active lifestyle opportunities are in abundance for the Saltwater Coast community now that the Lifestyle Centre is open.

"Residents have the very latest sporting facilities that are little more than a hop, skip and jump from their front door.

"It's hard to imagine that just 20 kilometers from Melbourne's CBD there are new lots with excellent sporting and recreational facilities that are surrounded by pristine wetlands and tranquil parklands and beaches," said Ms Delfabbro.

Saltwater Coast's unique coastal surrounds combined with the facilities available in the Lifestyle Centre ensure that recreation is a key feature for the Saltwater Coast community. Residents are able to do everything from enjoy a leisurely swim in the pool, to a workout in the gym or a game of tennis.
